AIA San Francisco Announces the 2018 Design Awards Program Honorees

(SAN FRANCISCO, CA) April 26, 2018 | The American Institute of Architects, San Francisco chapter (AIASF) announced the award recipients of the 2018 AIASF Design Awards program on Thursday, April 26 at the Herbst Theatre, San Francisco War Memorial & Performing Arts Center. Master of Ceremonies was Edgar Lopez, Deputy Director for Buildings, and City Architect for San Francisco Public Works.

“AIASF has a plethora of talented design firms each year. The jury has their work cut out for them, and this year was no exception,” says AIASF 2018 President Rosa Sheng, FAIA. “Our warmest congratulations to all honorees, and thank you to everyone who submitted and made this year’s awards program another success.”

In existence for nearly half a century, AIA San Francisco’s Design Awards program recognizes the outstanding achievements in architecture and design of Bay Area individuals and organizations as well as celebrates the distinguished work of architects and related professionals from afar who contribute to the framework of our local built environment. The program serves to inform the public of the breadth and value of architectural practice.

“AIASF received over 200 submissions, featuring a wide spectrum of projects from across the globe,” AIASF Executive Director Jennifer Jones, CAE, IOM, commented. “Each project is uniquely innovative and inspiring; it is an honor for our chapter to recognize and celebrate the creative work of our talented local design community.”

The Design Awards submission is structured into main categories and optional concentrations. In addition to the design awards given in each main category – Architecture, Interior Architecture, and Unbuilt Design – the jury may also choose to recognize projects that exhibit special achievements in three concentrations, giving special acknowledgement to projects that further encompass the values of good design within the context of historic preservation and social responsibility.

The 2018 AIASF Design Awards program was juried in Boston, Massachusetts, in partnership with the Boston Society of Architects. This year’s jury was Jeffry Burchard, AIA, Machado Silvetti; Jean Carroon, FAIA, Goody Clancy; Alex Diaz, NADAAA; Sara Elsa-Beech, Baker Design Group; BréAnna Romulus, DREAM Collaborative.

Projects are included in a print publication available at the AIASF office and will be showcased in an upcoming exhibition on view at the AIA San Francisco gallery.
